

Seven Reasons to Join

7.

A network with values, not ads

Kamooni is pro-social, non-exploitative, open-source and built for the common good. Our customers are not advertisers, and therefore, we do not need to manipulate you or mine and sell your data while keeping you glued to the screen for as long as possible. Quite the opposite. We want you to connect with others and make change happen.

6.

Paying it Forward, Giving it Back

Kamooni is a non-profit enterprise, but a serious enterprise nonetheless and our goal is to turn a profit. However, only in order to generate funds and reinvest them into the communities of our members. Which is a lot more sustainable than going into private corporate pockets. We do this through something we call the Altruistic Wallet, which allows members to allocate their share of any profits into the projects they wish to support.

5.

Turn your vision into action

Kamooni has a simple but effective built-in system for teams and individuals to create goals, allocate tasks among team members and follow up on results. The tasks you have taken on are collected on your profile and your calendar for easy access, whatever project they hail from. Kamooni also provides ways to request funding, volunteers and resources to further support your mission.

4.

Mapping the world as it is

Kamooni has a map-based interface that allows you to search both locally and globally for projects to contribute to and people to connect with. This interface also creates an entirely different type of search behaviour, not so much doom-scrolling as opportunity-rolling.

3.

Building trust, building identity

Kamooni is a community of character, not credentials. What counts is what you do, not what you signal. As all completed tasks go on your profile, you build a verifiable reputation that actually says something about your identity and character. Something that you can bring along with you into any new community or context you enter.

2.

100% Oligarch-free

Either we use their networks and continue to give away our agency, privacy, freedom and resources, or we start building our own tools that work for us and fund what we want. Kamooni does the latter. You get to decide how Kamooni works, and you get to decide where we allocate any profits.

1.

Matchmaking for Changemakers

Ultimately, Kamooni is all about finding the others. The ones who believe that things could be different, that things could be better, not just for us as individuals, but for all of us. To find the others, so we know we are not alone. Because we are not alone. We just don't realise yet how many we are and how much we have in common. And once we've found each other, once we have connected, there is no limit to what we can achieve.